ALL SALOONS ARE CLOSED Little Enthusiasm Is Shown When Natives Take Control of the City

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—(Tuesday)—With one passenger and one man drowned and 60 persons still aboard the schooner Hannel, on Flax reef, nine miles north of San Francisco, a ray of hope entered the gloomy early today when it was learned that five members of a life-saving crew, whose boat was upset and who were supposed to have been rescued, finally had been drawn from the Hannel.

The Hannel, a small schooner, was with their trained cooperation, a small boat, was pulled to the beach. The lives of the 60 men and women who are clinging to the sloping side of the fast-breaking reef, were in the balance. A thick fog enveloped the scene, and the rescue work was in deep water. It was realized that the only possible hope of saving the Hannel and her crew was to get a line out to shore.

Schooner Near Shore. The schooner lies a few hundred yards off shore, beached in the fog, and at night, and which is at right angles to the shore. Just dusk, a rift in the fog revealed a glimpse of the doomed boat, pounded by the surf which broke over the reef in a quiet weather. The white, frothy, undulating waves of the sea, which were breaking over the reef, were a sight to see. The fog was so thick that persons five feet apart could not see each other. The fog was so thick that persons five feet apart could not see each other.

Lid Is Clamped On. Vera Cruz is on the list of prohibition cities, at least temporarily, on the city, the Mexicans found the saloons closed, in accordance with the order. This was, however, approved by General Funston and under a new order issued today the saloons will remain closed until further orders.

General Aguilar issued another proclamation in which he calls on the people of Vera Cruz to assist him in the maintenance of order. He assures them of his intention to furnish guarantees of safety to all residents, Mexican and foreign, of all classes, even to those opposed to the cause.

The entrance of the 1,000 men who arrived here was effected as quietly as was General Funston's withdrawal. Beyond the suburbs of the city there are many more troops than are already here, and it is expected that several thousand of these soldiers will be here before the end of the week. It is believed that General Carranza may arrive any day to establish headquarters here, though not even Minister of Foreign Affairs Fabela, who accompanied General Aguilar into Vera Cruz, was well informed on this point.

Little Enthusiasm Shown. Little enthusiasm was displayed on the entrance of the native forces into Vera Cruz. The tendency of almost all the people especially those of the better class, was to remain safely within the city.

COYOTE HUNT NEXT TUESDAY TO END DEPREDATIONS OF THE ANIMALS ON STOCK

First Event of Its Kind Since Early Pioneer Days; Will Cover 25 Square Miles; Scores Planning to Participate

Preparations for a giant coyote drive will cover about 25 square miles territory and is the first of its kind to be held in the Pike's Peak region.

The drive will be held on the south line, extending from Calhan to Falcon, will drive south to the ranch and the west line (which is composed of Colorado Springs people), will drive east to the ranch. The meeting place or center where the coyotes will be driven for the slaughter, will be on the four sections of state land two miles south of the Titus ranch.

Coyotes Killing Stock. The coyotes in El Paso county have been unusually troublesome for the past few years and ranches and cattlemen and farmers have been worried about their stock in the winter. It is planned by this round-up to exterminate as many of them as possible before the winter storms and snow begin, and thereby leave the poultry, cattle and other animals free from attacks. There is a government bounty for killing the beasts and their hides also are worth something.

"We hope to get several hundred people out for the round-up and make a killing," said Mr. Lauck yesterday. "The brutes have been a great nuisance for years and the farmers are complaining. City people will be welcomed on the drive."

LARGE OVERDRAFTS PREVENT LOWER LEVY

County Commissioners Frightened Expenses Heavier Than Expected

With four of the six funds already overdrawn, the county commissioners estimate that the overdraft by January 1, 1915, will be approximately $23,000. Such conditions will make impossible any marked reduction in the county tax levy for next year, though every effort will be put forth to keep it as low as possible.

The big damage done by summer floods and an increased election expense are given by the commissioners as reasons for the deficit. The officials are working over all sorts of plans for the 1915 budget and probably will confer with citizens about the matter.

The estimated overdrafts range from $2,772 in the contingent fund to $9,160 in the ordinary county revenue fund. Small surpluses are shown in the special advertising fund and the improvement fund.

The following figures given out by the commissioners show the condition of the various funds, the probable overdraft and the levy necessary to raise the fund and cover the deficit in 1915.

Ordinary County Revenue. Overdrawn, November 18, $11,357.38. Warrants drawn, November 18, $1,637.03. After 1915, $9,720.35. Will probably draw in December, 1915, $10,000.00.

Probable overdraft, January 1, 1915, $21,960.28. 12 months in 1915 at $5.20 a month, $63,000.00. Will need to December 31, 1915, $83,960.28.

If all is paid, a two-mill levy will raise $138,750.28. Road and Bridge. Overdrawn, November 18, $3,544.32. Warrants drawn, November 18, $1,637.03. After 1915, $1,907.29. Will probably draw in December, 1915, $4,000.00.

Total, $11,451.36. Received from state, $8,000.00. Probable overdraft, Jan. 1, 1915, $3,451.36. 12 months in 1915 at $5.20 a month, $63,000.00. Will need to December 31, 1915, $67,951.36.

One mill levy $40 raise, $63,451.36. Support of Poor. Overdrawn, November 18, 1915, $4,226.37. (Continued on Page Two.)

AMMONS WILL KEEP LID ON IN THE COAL FIELDS

Refuses to Listen to Las Animas County Petitioners Headed by State Senator Barala

DENVER, Nov. 23.—Announcement of his intention to further extend the order against the sale or importation of liquor in the coal strike zone was made today by Governor Ammons. The announcement followed the petition of a delegation of Las Animas county business men, headed by Senator Casimiro Barala, who visited the governor today and urged that the saloons in the county be permitted to reopen in order that stocks of liquor on hand might be disposed of before the new liquor prohibition amendment went into effect.

Governor Ammons stated that the order would be extended at the request of Colonel Lockett, commanding the federal troops in the Colorado coal fields. The original closing order, which would have expired November 1, was extended by the governor and today's extension will make it effective during the remainder of Governor Ammons' term of office.

PREACHER SCORES COAL OPERATORS

DOMINATE POLITICS IN COLORADO, HE SAYS

Report of Church Investigation of Strike Made Public in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—In a report to the commission on the church and social service of the federal council of the churches here tonight, Rev. Henry A. Atkinson, an social secretary and investigator, arraigned the Colorado coal companies for their attitude in the recent labor troubles in that state.

The Rev. Mr. Atkinson was sent to Colorado and also to the neighboring districts of Montana where there were recent industrial difficulties, by the social service commission of the Congressional church and the commission of the council of churches, and was empowered to represent both bodies in his investigation into the labor conditions.

After reviewing the trouble in Colorado, his report says: "The coal companies dominate the politics in those counties where the mines are located. They have brought about the election of the judges, the sheriffs, the coroners and assessors. They can do about as they please so far as the law is concerned. A mass of evidence was brought out to show the way they control the political and social and economic situation. Jefferson Parrish, sheriff of Huerfano county, has been in office for 15 years. He is known as the 'king of Huerfano county.' What he says goes, as one of his admirers put it to me."

Further, he reports says: "It is impossible to enforce the law and the courts are practically closed to those who are in favor of the coal operators. Thus economic justice is denied the men through the manipulation of political affairs."

Union Their Only Hope. Thirty years of such oppression, industrial, social and political have taught the miners that their only hope is in the unions. An individual count for nothing; if he protests he loses his job; if he backs too much trouble he is dealt with by hired gunmen, who are kept at the mines to do the will of the companies and help enforce the law against the workers.

Of the actions of the militia, the Rev. Mr. Atkinson informed the commission as follows: "The soldiers were gladly received by the strikers, for they expected they would have some protection, but their hopes were in vain. It soon became evident that the militia was under the control of the coal companies."

"Men and women were thrown into jail without any charge being lodged against them and held uncommunicated."

Constitution Set Aside. "The constitution of the state was set aside. The militia met and elected strike breakers who were brought into the state. The militia instead of aiming to maintain order and secure justice was used to break the strike."

"Special attack was made upon the Ludlow colony. It being the largest in the district. There were 900 people living there, 275 of them children, 21 having been born during the winter. There were 21 nationalities and yet they lived in peace. It was this colony against which the militia, including the mine guards, directed their fire on April 20. A number of the inhabitants were killed and the tents were destroyed by fire."

"In the investigation following the Ludlow battle, it was shown that many of the militiamen who were receiving pay from the state were at the same time receiving pay from the coal companies."

FOREST FIRES ARE RAGING IN ARKANSAS

Whole State in Danger and Much Property May Be Destroyed

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 23.—Spread of the forest fires which have been raging in Arkansas for several days was indicated by late reports today. The fires, which started in the Ozark region, now are burning virtually in every part of the state.

Only the extreme northwestern part of the state, at Fayetteville, and the country immediately surrounding it was the country reported free from flames.

With no effective means of fighting the fires in the burning timber lands and with all conditions dry as tinder, the result of a protracted drought, fear tonight possessed people in every section. The announcement of Governor Hicks that his power was less to call upon the state militia as a fire-fighting organization added to general distress.

Loss Will Be Heavy. Heretofore the damage has been confined largely to timber, fences and telegraph and telephone lines but tonight a message received here that told of the burning of the county home of St. Louis, Senator-elect Hamilton, added to the general distress.

No estimate of the loss has been made, but it is known to be large. Great destruction has been caused in the lumber districts.

At Hot Springs forest fires from the south are creeping over the mountain side toward the city and burned masses of safety are being taken. A dense fall of smoke envelops the valley in which Hot Springs is located. So far there has been no serious property loss or loss of life, though a severe fire in the beautiful summer homes adjacent to the city has been threatened, but prompt action by firefighting has eliminated the danger.

All Parts of State on Fire. Batesville, in north Arkansas, reports dense clouds of smoke but no serious fires in the immediate vicinity. Wynne, in eastern Arkansas, reports many small fires in its vicinity are causing much anxiety.

Magdonia, in southwestern Arkansas, reports that farmers are fighting desperately to check the fires.

Men in southwestern Arkansas, near the Oklahoma line, reports that dense clouds of smoke are rolling over from Oklahoma, where the fire seem to have assumed serious proportions.

A traveler arriving tonight from Dumas, in southeastern Arkansas, said fires, extending along the railroad right of way, had been burning for several days in the vicinity of Little Rock, and that spreading country.

Fires Reach Oklahoma. Muskogee, Okla., Nov. 23.—Reports here tonight are that several serious forest fires are raging in the dense timber lands in southeastern Oklahoma. In the wooded hills to the northeast, brush fires are being taken to prevent fires in Arkansas from spreading across the border. A black wind is blowing and a dense smoke is being blown toward the Little Rock mountain range in southwestern Oklahoma.

Several towns in McClurt and LeFlore counties in the Arkansas border, report large fires. From Woods, a town in that district, comes the report that the flames are approaching the town on all sides and some are being taken to safeguard a large oil pumping station there.

The entire section is mountainous, heavily timbered and sparsely populated. It will be impossible to check the fires with the help at hand.

Kaiser Preparing New Line of Attack in Flanders and Again Will Try to Reach French Coast: Ypres and Rheims Subjected to Another Fierce Bombardment

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The battle which is being fought in the region between the Vistula and Warthe rivers, in Poland, appears to have turned in favor of the Russians. In fact, a special dispatch from Petrograd to Paris says that the Russian army already has won a decisive victory. While this may be an exaggeration, both the Russian and the German official reports suggest that General von Hindenburg's second thrust at Warsaw has been checked.

Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces, for two days in succession has recorded partial success in this great battle, and tonight the German general staff says the arrival of Russian reinforcements has postponed a decision.

Both sides have expressed confidence in the outcome of this battle. Grand Duke Nicholas and General von Hindenburg heretofore have been so successful in their strategy that their adherents look upon them as almost unbeatable.

RUSSIANS HAVE GREAT ADVANTAGE OVER ENEMY. The German papers only this morning were talking of a general Russian retirement, despite the fact that the Russians have been advancing steadily in Galicia, have repulsed the Austro-German attack before Cracow, held part of the German territory in East Prussia and were opposing General von Hindenburg's advance on Warsaw.

It is certain that the Russian numbers must tell when the Germans have reached the ground on which Grand Duke Nicholas has chosen to give them battle.

While undertaking punitive tasks in the east, the Germans, according to all accounts are preparing to launch another offensive movement in the west. Just where this is to be known, of course, by the general staff alone. It is believed here, however, that they will make another effort to get through to the French coast and perhaps at the same time try to force the line of French fortresses in the Alsace region.

WAR ORDERS BEGIN TO POUR INTO BIG FACTORIES IN U. S. CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Steel orders for more than $10,000,000 worth of a tonnage, warship's guns, armor and equipment were brought back by Frederick S. Read of Read Inc., who has just returned from England. Read also has been contracted for 200 automobile trucks from a Kenosha, Wis., firm, while the Federal government has ordered more than $1,000,000 worth of automobiles from a Jackson, Mich., factory.

Another war time order made known here today was a British order for 3,000,000 one-pound tin of corned beef.

GREAT INVENTION BY A SERB

From Mitteleuropa Magazine.

The other invention has done almost as much as the switchboard in extending the telephone. This has had as remarkable a life as its discoverer. The newspapers today are filled with the story of the life of a distinguished Serbian patriot—Michael J. Pupin. Most newspaper readers know this man only as the honorary consul of Serbia at New York; as the supposed instigator of plots against the Hapsburg dynasty; as one of the numerous exiles whose appearance on Austrian soil would unquestionably mean his immediate arrest. Michael J. Pupin splendidly illustrates what American opportunities can do for a European immigrant. In his early days Mr. Pupin obtained employment as a rubber in a Turkish bath. But the American educational system transformed him. He was graduated from Columbia in 1888 and afterward studied extensively in Germany.

The new subject of electro-mechanics absorbed him. One thing had prevented the extension of the telephone: that was the size of the wire. Long distance lines, up to 1,000, demanded wire about an eighth of an inch thick—as thick as a fair-sized lead pencil. The New York-Chicago line, built in 1893, consumed 870,000 pounds of copper wire of this size. The enormous expense stood in the way of any extended movement. The same thickness also interfered with cable extension. Wires placed under the ground lose an enormous amount of their energy. In the early cables, therefore, the underground wires had to be very thick. Only about a hundred wires could be squeezed into one cable, against the 1,500 now compressed in the same area.

About 1900, telephone progress was making time, awaiting the arrival of a thin wire that would do the work of a thick one. The importance of the problem is shown by the fact that one-fourth of all the capital invested in the telephone has been spent in copper. Prof. Pupin in solving this problem in his quiet laboratory at Columbia university, won the greatest prize in modern telephonic art.

His researches resulted in the famous "Pupin coil." In the expedient known as "loading." When the scientists attempt to explain this they have to use all kinds of mathematical formulas and curves—in fact, they usually get to quarrelling among themselves over the points involved. What Prof. Pupin has apparently done has been to free the wire from those miscellaneous disturbances known as "induction."

All kinds of influences are warning upon the electric current to deprive it of its strength. Under his system, coils placed at regular intervals along the wire absorb this induction and leave the wire free to do its work. A piece of copper, sixteenth of an inch thick, therefore, does as much as the monster wire formerly required. This invention has resulted in economies that amount to tens of millions of dollars.

ing voice and captivating manner that dates back to the days of minstrelsy when Billy West billed him as the glorious boy tenor, is the headline feature at the Opera House Wednesday and Thursday, and he easily wins the stake applause in the free-for-all race. Mr. Romain sings as well as he ever did, and what adds pleasure to his number is the fact that he has a bit of other things in addition to good music. He is ably assisted by Charles Orr in the comedy skit, "The Cockney and the Con." The first scene shows a bookie manager's office and then motion picture films or both principals on their way to a club, where their act is finished. "I Miss You Most of All," a ballad number that shows Mr. Romain to advantage, is the opening song, and then a clever comparison of the songs of yesterday and today is introduced. It is a corking closing number.

Frederick Palmer does some out comedy acceptably and closes in a modern marriage scene that is truly a laughable farce comedy. He has been coming to Colorado Springs for several seasons and making good and his offering is different from his work heretofore.

Johnnie Murphy and Johnnie Foley need not have mentioned that they are proteges of George Primrose, for they have the old minstrel king's dancing down pat and get across strong.

McClure and Dolly close the show with juggling and equilibrium which wins a hand.

This is Mr. Loew's first road show and is good entertainment. An improvement is made in the evening performance by cutting down the number of picture reels. There is enough photo-play to be enjoyable, but not enough to be tiresome and make the show drag. It has been the case heretofore. The afternoon show remains the same, however, with enough of the old-fashioned drama to please the most enthusiastic movie fan. The musical numbers add pleasure to this week's bill.

FORBES-ROBERTSON'S FAREWELL

Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, the famous English actor, will make his farewell appearance in Colorado Springs at the Opera house the two nights beginning Monday November 30. "Hamlet" will be played on Monday night and "The Light That Failed" will be presented on Tuesday night. Forbes-Robertson will be supported by his entire London company of 30 players.

Miss Laura Cowie, who will appear in the leading feminine roles in these two plays, is a young actress who is generally considered the most promising as well as the most beautiful of the younger English actresses.

Forbes-Robertson was last seen in this city three years ago in "Passing of the Third Floor Back." Since that time he has made his farewell tour of Great Britain and has also played his last engagement in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago and other important eastern cities. His present tour will include all the leading western cities and will mark his positively last tour of this country.

Forbes-Robertson has been on the stage 25 years. He is now at the zenith of his powers and his greatest wish is to retire while he is still in full possession of his art, which has won for him universal recognition as the greatest English-speaking actor of his generation.

Seats for the Forbes-Robertson en-

agement will be placed on sale at the Opera house box office this morning. The management advises all to secure their seats early, as both performances will probably be completely sold out.

Frederick Palmer Draws an Interference From Comparing the Gait of Two German Soldiers and Their French Captor

Frederick Palmer in Everybody's Magazine. War accentuates the contrast of the French and the German nature and methods. I have in mind two German prisoners we passed on the road.

I had seen many German prisoners in hampers, but for some reason these two held particular attention. Both were young, in the very prime of life, one was dark complexioned, with a scrubby beard which was the product of the war. He marched with such rigidity that I shouldn't have been surprised to see him break into a goose-step. The other was of that very mild, blue-eyed, fair-haired type, such as the thin white skin which does not burn. He was taller than the other and he was tired, oh, how tired! He would lag and then stiffen his shoulders and throw out his chest.

A rather small French soldier was escorting the pair. He looked pretty tired, too, but he was getting over the ground in the natural, easy way in which man is meant to walk. The aboriginal rocks, who have a genius for long distances on foot, do not march in the German fashion. It looks impressive, but lacks endurance. By the same token, the Russian gait is better for a soldier, but it is not that of the high stepping carriage horse.

You could realize the quarrel which those two martial appearing Germans had for their captor. Four or five peasant women, refugees by the roadside, looked on their tongues at the prisoners in sharp, piercing, feminine satire and upbraiding.

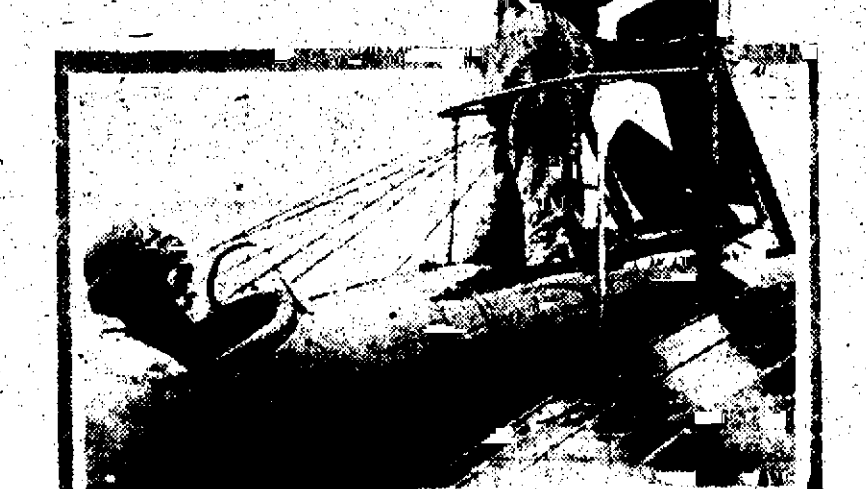

"You are going to Paris, after all! This is what you get for invading our country, and you'll get more of it, you loters and barbarians!"

The little French soldier held up his hand to the women and shook his head and the very first German stiffened his step and both drew in their limbs, looking neither to the right nor the left, one proud and contemptuous, as their Kaiser would wish them to be. The faith of the Germans in their Kaiser is wonderful. Prisoners say that the Kaiser cannot lose; he never loses. What will happen if that faith be shattered?

And speaking of grandfather's trousers, both Germans were wearing grandfather's hats. One was a cumbersome helmet and the other that ridiculous cap which throws the glare of the sun in your eyes when you fire.

The British are the most practically equipped troops on the continent. The Boers knocked a lot of grandfather's sentiment out of them.

GARRISON OPPOSES MILITARY HEARING

Congress Should Not Disclose Secrets of Nation's Defense, He Contends

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—War department officials possess no information which they "feel free to disclose" as to the state of the nation's defense which has not already been made public, according to a letter addressed by Secretary Garrison today to Representative A. P. Gardner of Massachusetts.

Mr. Gardner introduced a resolution providing for congressional investigation of the military situation in the United States at the last session and had written the secretary regarding his appearance as a witness during the proposed hearing. Mr. Garrison's letter said in part:

"I note that you express the hope that I will be the first witness before the committee; that as Assistant Secretary Breckinridge will likewise consent to give his testimony and that you have invited a number of army officers to testify. I do not think it seems for me to offer myself to the committee, nor do I believe that the assistant secretary would think it proper for him so to do, and I feel sure that officers should not place themselves in the position of volunteering information or views to congress or one of its committees."

"I am not, as you must be aware, standing on any question of technical procedure or insisting on any particular form of real-time methods. Whosoever and whatever the committee expresses a desire to have from this department will be immediately and fully furnished."

"With respect to your suggestion that the testimony of myself and the officers will disclose a state of facts so astonishing as to challenge the attention of the country, I can only say that practically every fact which I or any officer would feel free to disclose now is available to the public and has been for a long time."

"I am not, as you must be aware, standing on any question of technical procedure or insisting on any particular form of real-time methods. Whosoever and whatever the committee expresses a desire to have from this department will be immediately and fully furnished."

LIMON MAN KILLS WIDOW; THEN SELF

LIMON, Colo., Nov. 22.—Daniel W. Van Fossen, 41, early today shot and killed Mrs. Annie L. Ferris, 42, a widow, and then committed suicide. The shooting occurred at Mrs. Ferris' home. A nephew of the woman, Charles Schiele, 18, was awakened by the shot but was held at bay by the slayer until the deed was completed. Van Fossen had been a suitor for Mrs. Ferris' hand for some time and it is presumed that her refusal of his offer of marriage was the cause of the crime. The slayer went to the widow's house soon after midnight with a small caliber rifle. He shot Mrs. Ferris four times, then turned the weapon upon himself.

100,000 Americans Want to Enlist in the Canadian Army

OTTAWA, Can., Nov. 23.—One hundred thousand men in the United States have offered to enlist in Canada for service in Europe, according to Major General Hughes, Canadian minister of militia. He made the statement to the Canadian club today in reply to questions regarding the theory that Germans in the United States might attempt to raid across the border.

Major General Hughes said he was in favor of accepting the men who had offered themselves. Hundreds of Americans, he asserted, are already with the first and second contingents.

TURKEY INFORMALLY EXPLAINS TO U.S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Turkey has voluntarily explained to the United States government through Ambassador Morgenthau that the shots fired toward the launch of the American cruiser Tennessee last Monday were intended merely as the customary warning that the port of Smyrna was mined and closed to navigation.

Although the explanation was informal and the United States government still is awaiting a reply to formal representations which Ambassador Morgenthau was instructed to make to the Turkish foreign office, it was generally admitted at the White house, state and navy departments that all danger of serious complications over the incident had been removed.

Ambassador Morgenthau reported that two members of the Ottoman cabinet, the minister of interior and war, had fully explained the occurrence to him and high officials here said his message was filed before the instructions sent from Washington to discuss the subject officially with the grand vizier could have been received by Morgenthau.

President Wilson and his cabinet regard the informal explanation as a certain precursor of a satisfactory formal explanation and that guarantees for the protection of Americans and their interests will also be forthcoming.

DUNDREARY WEEPERS NEW GETMAN STYLE

PARIS, Nov. 23.—Here are two fashion hints from Berlin, as they are published in Paris.

"Dundreary weepers" are the proper face ornaments for soldiers, according to a recommendation made by a barbers' conference just held in Berlin. The barbers decided that the ideal whippers resembled the German Kaiser's, combined with the upturned mustache of the Austrian emperor.

Berlin dressmakers, who are competitors to Paris fashions, have evolved popular war blouses of red and blue silk, with gilt buttons.

WICHITA QUARANTINED BY STATE AUTHORITIES

WICHITA, Kan., Nov. 23.—When federal veterinarians reach this city tomorrow, stockmen will know if the temporary quarantine placed on the Wichita stock yards will be made permanent. Taylor Riddie, state livestock commissioner, now is in charge of the yards, which were put under surveillance last night when a disease resembling the foot and mouth ailment was found among hogs in the pens.

Meanwhile, shipment of feeders from this city is prohibited.

Has Fine Action in the Hood

Dear Real Work in Cheyenne, Roddy of the "Hood".

It is to the skin that blood impurities are driven by Nature. And it is in the skin that S. S. S. the famous blood purifier, has its most pronounced influence. For it is here that you see the results. S. S. S. is the best and most effective in the joints, glands and mucous surfaces in driving out rheumatism, overcoming boils and ridding the system of catarrh.

The purely vegetable ingredients in S. S. S. are naturally assimilated but they enter the blood at an active metabolism and are not destroyed or converted while at work. It is this peculiar feature of S. S. S. that makes it so effective. It enters into action all the forces of the body, arouses digestive secretions, stimulates the blood circulation to destroy disease breeding germs.

Upon entering the blood S. S. S. is carried through your body in about three minutes. And in a brief time it has any blood trouble so under control that it no longer can multiply. Gradually new flesh is formed in all broken-down tissues and the skin takes on the ruddy glow of health. Be sure and get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist, but avoid all substitutes. Circular that tells you how to get the special free advice is quickly secured. Send for it today. S. S. S. is prepared only by S. S. S. Co. in Swift Spring, Ark., U. S. A.

time in the employ of the coal companies as guards, thus receiving double pay. They were really employees of the company fighting in the name of the state.

Situation in Michigan.

After reviewing the conditions as they prevailed in Michigan several conclusions are stated in the report. In mentioning welfare work that has been conducted by the companies, the report says:

"No amount of welfare work, however admirable it may be, will take the place of fair wages and right conditions of labor."

"As to violence," it is stated, "churches are opposed to violence. No matter what the provocation. Such tactics reflect upon the workers themselves."

In regard to the unions the report has this to say:

"The right of workmen to organize has been and is being denied by the un-American and un-Christian attitude of the mine operators who thus deprive their employees of an essential means of self-defense the right to bargain collectively for their labor."

"Military Necessity."

The report deplored the practice of allowing private companies to bring hired gunmen into a community in which there are industrial troubles and "still more deprecates such men being given authority as special officers of the government by the state and local authorities."

The report then continues:

"In Colorado men and women were thrown into prison and kept there without any charge being lodged against them, on the ground of 'military necessity.' This denial of constitutional rights and liberties weakens respect for the law and its agents and tends to plunge the community all the deeper into confusion and lawlessness."

"In connection with these strikes, one of the most pressing questions is that of the ownership and control of the stock. We call upon our united churches to study in the light of the ethics of Jesus the question of such absentee ownership and the responsibility growing out of it."

WHITMAN TO PROBE CHARGES PATRICK'S PARDON WAS BOUGHT

Milliken Denies He Induced Serious Damage Inflicted on Dix to Grant Release of Brother-in-Law

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—District Attorney Whitman today began an investigation of all circumstances attendant upon the granting of a pardon on November 27, 1912, by John A. Dix, governor of New York, to Albert T. Patrick, serving a life sentence at Sing Sing for the murder of William Marshall.

The investigation was begun after two affidavits had been filed with the district attorney concerning published statements to the effect that Joseph Walker, Jr., a Wall street banker, had offered to obtain Patrick's pardon if John T. Milliken of St. Louis, Patrick's brother-in-law, would join him in a mining deal. This alleged deal was in connection with the Golden Cycle mine.

The affidavits filed were made by George C. Goodrich and wife, Mrs. Anna S. Goodrich, and related their version of what transpired at a meeting here among themselves and Mr. Milliken on March 23, 1912.

Mr. Whitman announced that if the facts warranted, after further investigation, the matter would be placed before the grand jury.

Former Governor Dix who is in this city said today that he had pardoned Patrick solely for the sake of Patrick's children. He repeated his previous denial of the report that he had pardoned Patrick at the request of Mr. Walker. Mr. Dix denied that he was in New York in connection with the Patrick case.

Falselyhood, Says Milliken.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 23.—John T. Milliken today emphatically denied that a mining deal between himself and a banker of Wall street had anything to do with the granting of a pardon to his brother-in-law, Albert T. Patrick, by Governor Dix.

The affidavit of George C. Goodrich, published in New York and purporting to give details of the mine deal in question, was termed a "tissue of falsehood" by Milliken.

Legal expense and other incidentals to the long-fought fight for Patrick's pardon cost Milliken about $150,000, the millionaire said.

"Goodrich is angry at me because I would not give him an option for the purchase of a certain gold mine," he added. "I later gave that option to a New York firm, but the name of Patrick never was mentioned in connection with the deal."

Patrick Denies Charges.

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 23.—Albert T. Patrick, engaged in the oil business here today gave out a statement denying the truth of allegations made in connection with his pardon by former Governor Dix of New York. He declared that the giving of an option on mining property by his brother-in-law, John T. Milliken, to a New York banking firm had nothing to do with his (Patrick's) pardon, and that it was a "financial transaction that appeared to Milliken on its own merits."

BRITISH AVIATORS RAIN BOMBS ONTO ZEPPELIN FACTORY

German Aircraft Pans by the Airman

LONDON, Nov. 23.—It was announced officially this afternoon that the British aviators, who Saturday afternoon raided Friedrichshafen on the Constance, report positively that all the bombs thrown by them reached their objective and that serious damage was done to the Zeppelin shipyard.

Details of the aeroplane raid on the Zeppelin factory at Friedrichshafen, which British officers assert inflicted serious damage, were given in the house of commons this afternoon by Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty.

"On Saturday," said Mr. Churchill, "the aeroplanes, under the direction of Squadron Commander E. F. Bristow of the naval air service with Flight Commander Robinson and Flight Lieutenant Supple, flew from French territory to the Zeppelin shipyard factory. All of the three pilots flew down to a close range under heavy fire from anti-aircraft guns and rifles. They launched their bombs in accordance with instructions."

"Commander Bristow is reported to have been shot down and to have been taken wounded to a hospital as a prisoner. The other officers returned safely to French territory although their machines were damaged by the fire of the enemy. They report positively that all of the bombs reached their objective and that serious damage was done to the Zeppelin factory."

"This flight of 250 miles, penetrating 120 miles into Germany, across a mountainous country under difficult weather conditions, constitutes, together with the attack, a fine feat of arms."

FOUR-MASTED SCHOONER REPORTED BREAKING UP

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A four-masted schooner laden with lumber went ashore early this morning near Rhinecock lighthouse, Long Island. The vessel appeared to be breaking up in the heavy seas. She was about a quarter of a mile from the shore. Life savers sought to rescue the crew.

Observers on shore asserted that the schooner was hard and fast aground and that the waves were sweeping thousands of feet of lumber from her decks. Her name could not be seen. The life savers succeeded in shooting a line across the vessel and then launched a surf boat.

PRES. WILSON URGES NATIONAL ECONOMY

Preparing Budget for Next Year; War Necessitates Expense Cut

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—President Wilson is giving careful consideration to means for reduction of government expenditures next year because of the European war. It was learned today, and is working on a budget system to coordinate expenditures and income.

Mr. Wilson plans to give more attention to applications hereafter than he was able to do last year, because of the press of other business. In his writings before he became president he advocated a budget system, including the presence in congress of a secretary of the treasury to explain the administration's estimates.

It is expected the president will refer to this question in his forthcoming message to congress and will give particular attention to it in conference. He is to begin soon with congressional leaders to prepare the program for the short session.

War Will Overthrow Autocratic Government in Europe--Dr. Billis

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—That the war would result in the overthrow of autocratic government in Europe and lead to a democratic form of government similar to that of the United States for England and her possessions, was predicted by the Rev. Newell D. Billis, pastor of the Plymouth church, Brooklyn, N. Y., in an address tonight before the World's Bible conference.

The war would bring about many reforms in governmental conditions, he said, because it would awaken the people to a realization of their rights and shatter belief in the divine right of kings.

Mr. Billis arraigned Germany for the devastation of Belgium.

"I have been asked to be neutral and I am neutral," he said, "when I say that all the water in the river Rhine cannot wash the blood and shame from Germany's mailed fist."

MILLION BUSHELS OF WHEAT SOLD FOR EUROPEAN EXPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—More than 1,000,000 bushels of wheat were sold here today for export to Europe, and the total export sales from the United States came near to the 2,000,000 bushels mark.

St. Louis and Omaha each reported 100,000 bushels sold for export and a big foreign demand was reported at Kansas City and seaboard points.

Much of the Chicago wheat and 120,000 bushels from Milwaukee were shipped to the seaboard by rail because of the scarcity of lake vessels. Local exporters sold 400,000 bushels of corn and 50,000 bushels of oats.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—Romulo S. Naon, ambassador from the Argentine Republic, declared in an address before an audience of prominent manufacturers here tonight that the present European situation offered an unparalleled opening in South America for the business men of the United States.

Speaking of his own country, the ambassador read the possibilities offered by the purchasing power of Argentine commerce as well worthy of positive efforts, "not words, but actions; not wishes, but will."

"I do not believe I am wrong," added Ambassador Naon, "when I say the Argentine Republic offers to American manufacturers today a market of not less than $100,000,000 over and above the present exports of our country."

A dispatch from Las Palmas, Canary Islands, on November 12, said that the British cruiser the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, which was on parole, had escaped on a Dutch steamer. They were disguised as firemen. The men had been lodged on a German steamer moored in the harbor at Las Palmas.

Looking through a hole in the box, Plaus saw Michael Sadrinoff, a packer, wrap a roll of silk about his body and stuff his trousers legs with valuable feathers. Then Plaus yelled. Others rushed in and caught the man, who confessed.

DOPE

THE fact that the laws intended to regulate the sale of morphine, cocaine and other habit-forming drugs are outrageously violated daily and scores of times daily is apparent to everybody familiar with the situation in Colorado Springs. District Attorney Purcell is quoted as saying that "the dope habit is literally filling our prisons. At the present time there are several young men in jail here, who are headed straight for the penitentiary, solely because they are dope fiends. We intend to put a stop to it if we have to destroy every bit of dope in the community."

Mr. Purcell has asked the police of Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou for a list of the dope fiends or "hop-heads," and proposes to furnish a copy of it to each drug store, together with a notice forbidding the sale of habit-forming drugs to any person named on the list. Violation of this order, he says, will be punished by confiscation of the drugs in their stock.

We hope Mr. Purcell means business, if he does his campaign will have the enthusiastic support of the entire community. The dope habit is an unmitigated evil, and it is assuming such proportions that it can no longer be trifled with. Half-way measures do not suffice. It is useless to forbid the sale of morphine and cocaine unless the law is strictly enforced and violators punished so severely that they will be afraid to assume the risk another time.

The only reason why alcoholic liquors are a worse enemy to the health, morals and general welfare of civilization than cocaine is that their use is infinitely more prevalent. There is no hope for the victim of this drug; his career terminates speedily in absolute wreck and death. It is absurd to suppose that when the public fully realizes the real facts it will continue to tolerate the outrageous methods by which the stuff is now indiscriminately sold.

SUBMARINES VS. BATTLESHIPS

THE plan to increase the Navy substantially, especially by the addition of a large number of submarines, is expected to be a subject of controversy in the next session of Congress. President Wilson is said to be opposed to any radical modification of the present program of two new battleships a year with the necessary number of subsidiary vessels of various types. Opposed to this idea are the heads of the War and Navy departments, all officers of both branches of our military service, and a great many members of Congress who feel strongly that it would be worse than folly to ignore the lessons already taught by the present war on the sea.

Several months before the war began Admiral Sir Percy Scott, considered one of the highest naval authorities of England, publicly declared his opinion that the day of the superdreadnought and the battle cruiser is past, and that naval warfare will hereafter be decided by submarines, torpedo boats, destroyers and other vessels of similar type. He even went so far as to declare that it is folly to spend the immense sums needed for even a single new battleship of the superdreadnought type.

Thus far there has been no important fleet action in the war, and naval experts agree that the evidence on which to base final conclusions as to the changes which will be made in naval methods and construction is insufficient, but they admit that one thing has already been conclusively demonstrated—that is the effectiveness of the submarines. The Germans have shown that these little craft, a score of which can be built for the price of one modern battleship, are not to be lightly regarded.

The problem of how best to protect the country by building up the Navy is one of the greatest importance, and it is essentially a problem to be solved by naval experts rather than by Congressmen who are wholly without technical knowledge. Not until the European war is over and its lessons have been thoroughly learned will any of the governments be able to decide how best to protect by them. But at least we know that the history of the last three months has taught that thorough preparation for war is absolutely imperative. This does not mean going mad over militarism, but it does mean the adoption of such measures as would protect the country from invasion.

The unmistakable temper of the whole American people is such that there is no danger of us going to war unless one is forced upon us, but we have recently seen how easily a ruinous war can be forced upon nations that do not want it and make every effort to avert it. The United States ought to have both an army and a navy strong enough to protect it from invasion and to command the respect of the world. Then if it devotes itself consistently to minding its own business, there will not be much danger of war.

"SEE AMERICA FIRST"

THERE are countries in Europe which derive so large a share of their prosperity from the patronage of American travelers that its loss means stagnation. This is especially true of Switzerland. Surrounded on three sides by warring nations, with a certainty of being entirely enclosed by them if Italy joins the fight, its whole industrial life is at a standstill, and perhaps the severest blow is the loss of American patronage.

The effect of a dull tourist season is always apparent in England and France. Indeed, throughout Europe. Americans travel in larger numbers and spend more money than any other people, and the loss occasioned by their staying at home was not the least of the losses inflicted by the war last summer. It will be even greater next year.

But the American pleasure-seekers are going somewhere, and necessarily they will travel in their own country. Thousands of people in the East who never had been west of Buffalo, but who had crossed the Atlantic a dozen times, will go West next summer. Their objective point will be the two California expositions, and they will stop en route in Colorado, at the Grand Canon, Yellowstone Park, Glacier Park and other places of interest.

It behooves the Western states, and especially the places that profit most from the patronage of tourists, to go after this business before it starts. And apparently they are doing it. The advantages of "seeing America first" are set forth in advertising matter from all over the West. A few days ago the Omaha World-Herald published a special edition with descriptive articles and pictures of all the important scenic resorts in the West, with special attention to the Pikes Peak Region.

Such publicity is undoubtedly of great value. However great the scenic charms of a place may be, its popularity depends chiefly on the amount of publicity it receives. The Pikes Peak Region is widely advertised, but it could stand a good deal more. It means money and careful, systematic study of how best to attain results. Meanwhile, much good is accomplished by such publications as the excellent special edition of the World-Herald.

FREE PASSES
 To the Editor of The Gazette:
 I think the public utility commission has made a good move in putting down the pass list of the street railway commission. I do not see why Mr. Spivins should want any exceptions made to the rule of those on errands of charity. Take, for instance the Sisters of Charity. We all know that they can well afford to pay their nickel, and in many cases much better than some others. When I had an office in the Mining Exchange building, two of them called on me for the "poor," but when I happened to go downstairs they were getting into a carriage drawn by a well-kept team of horses, and with a coachman.

The public happens to ride in a car that is comfortably filled and it thinks the company is making money. If these howlers against railroad (both steam and trolley) could have insight to the books of any road they would soon see that everything is not profit. Cut down more free rides and give the railways a better chance to give the public better service—yet not one complaint can be said about the service rendered by the C. & S. R.

This city is ahead of Denver for street car service, and its gentlemen conductors and motormen, let everybody pay unless on the payroll of the company, and the so-called charity workers will be better able to go about their work not as objects of charity but doing some good with the really poor.

SECRETARY OF LABOR WILSON

To the Editor of The Gazette:
 The Evening Telegraph finds fault with Secretary Wilson because he represents organized labor as against the unorganized. Unorganized men are as a rule only concerned about their own personal interest and individuality. They do not naturally fraternize with union men nor do the secretary of labor. They have no interest in differences of settlement or organization. If they had they cannot survive by union oppression and wrong. They are collective-minded to collective bargaining and better in and practice the outcome of the income of the Rockefeller doctrine. Everybody for himself and the devil take the hindmost. Secretary Wilson works with the American Federation of Labor for organization, not disintegration for justice not injustice; for fraternal brotherhood, not isolating selfishness; for organized righteousness, not disorganized wrong and self interest. President Greedy and selfish people have no more use for Secretary Wilson than the latter has for the former.

BRITISH SUPREMACY ON THE SEAS

To the Editor of The Gazette:
 In an editorial on November 18, you ask what has become of the vaunted supremacy of the British navy, and you say the Germans are giving their food for reflection as to whether their supremacy on the sea can be maintained, and farther on, that in view of their losses to date, it is marvelous that the English people maintain their composure.

In reply, I wish to say that whatever success the British have had in the past, on land or sea, has been won by the taking, as well as the giving, of hard blows; and, as far as they have been able to make it so, in fair fights. They know that what others can do on the seas, they can do, if they would only stoop to their methods.

When it comes their turn to take hard knocks in a fair fight they are good losers, and do not complain, even though the enemy strikes below the belt when they think it to their advantage to do so. Great Britain has never tried to defeat an enemy by planting mines in neutral waters, and thereby killing innocent fishermen, nor by dropping bombs on innocent women and children and cutting their hands off, so as to frighten others from fighting in defense of their own hearths. They rely more upon the justice of their cause and upon their ability to give as well as to take hard blows, when they must, rather than to violate any of the laws or rules of civilized warfare.

It is true the British have suffered considerable loss from the attacks of the German submarines, but that is part of the price she must pay for being mistress of the seas, and for the advantages they derive thereby. No doubt they are learning to protect themselves from that mode of attack, and when the enemy musters up courage enough to come out from under cover, they will probably find that there are others that know a thing or two about submarines.

As to the few small battles that have been fought on the sea, we fall to see where the British have lost any prestige on account of them. In the battle of Heligoland, where the British ships outnumbered the Germans the latter had three ships of war sent to the bottom without doing very serious damage to their opponents. BRITON.

FROM OTHER PENS

GRANT WARNED US TO BE READY FOR WAR
 From "The Personal Memoirs of U. S. Grant"

"To maintain peace in the future it is necessary to prepare for war. There can scarcely be a possible chance of a conflict, the last one (the Civil War) occurring among our people again; but knowing as we are, in population, wealth and military power, we may become the envy of nations which led us in all these particulars only a few years ago; and unless we are prepared for it, we may be in danger some day of a combined movement being made to crush us out. Now, scarcely 20 years after the war, we have to have forgotten the lessons it taught, and we are going on as if in the greatest security, without the power to resist an invasion by the fleets of fourth rate European powers for a time until we could prepare for them."

We should have a good navy, and our sea-coast defenses should be put in the finest possible condition. Neither of these cost much when it is considered what the money goes and what we get in return. Money expended in a fine navy not only adds to our security and tends to prevent war in the future but is a very material aid to our commerce in the meantime with foreign nations. Money spent upon our sea-coast defenses, is spent among our own people, and all goes back again among the people. The work accomplished, too, like that of the navy, gives us a feeling of security.

The war has made us a nation of great power and intelligence. We have but little to do to preserve peace, happiness and prosperity at home and the respect of nations. Our experience ought to teach us the necessity of the first; our power secures the latter.

The Old Folks' Birthday

BY RUTH CAMERON

"There, yesterday was mother's birthday, and I forgot to send her anything. I'll get her something real nice and send it to her tomorrow." I heard a girl say the other day with an air of great virtue in having finally remembered.

It was evident that she hadn't always remembered mother's birthday even with the lukewarm remembrance of the day after.

I wonder if her mother forgot her birthday until the day after. I doubt it, don't you?

But young folks' birthdays are different, you say I agree. Quite different. The young girl probably has an many birthdays that it wouldn't matter if one were forgotten, while her mother's birthday may be one of a few precious anniversaries that are left her daughter to make happy.

What about the old folks' birthdays in your home, reader friend? Do you make them occasions of very special rejoicing that you still have these precious presences with you? Or do you remember them the day after and get a warmed-over present? Or do you remember them the week after and think "Next year I'll be more thoughtful."

How many homes there are in which the children's birthdays are celebrated with candles and feasting and presents even after they have grown up, while the old folks' anniversaries slip by unnoticed or are marked by a gift or two, probably of some family necessity!

To my mind the remembrance of a gift is not alone enough for father's or mother's birthday. Think of the times they especially mother have planned little celebrations for you. Why shouldn't you turn about and plan for them? It isn't just the gifts that make your birthday pleasant, is it? It's the good wishes and the cake and candles, the laughter and the holiday spirit, and perhaps most of all the atmosphere of special tenderness and forbearance that makes the day peculiarly sweet. It's pleasant even for the most modest of us to find ourselves in the center of the stage now and then. And that is an opportunity that the old folks seldom have. They're generously willing to get the stage and turn on the limelights and act as stage manager and audience combined for the young folks. But don't you think, just for a change, they'd like to be in the limelights once in a while? Somehow I feel they'd just love it.

I know of a dear little mother whose utter selfishness has made her children careless about such things. A time when they thought they might never have another chance to be unselfishly waked, them up and the next anniversary was celebrated with all the pretty ceremony they could devise. All "the sporting of fine raiment eating of rich meats and receipts of gifts compliments and copies of verse, according to the manner of our ancestors." Her childlike joy and surprise were the sweetest, most potent "memento" she could have given them. Her birthdays will never so unremembered again.

Aid father, too, if sometimes wonder if fathers aren't even more neglected than mothers in such respects because the mother tenderness lies so much nearer the surface) is to be feared when his anniversary comes.

Perhaps you think your father and mother are so sensible too busy, or too old to care for such things. Perhaps they are. But all I care for such things is—just try them and see.

PORTUGAL

Portugal, which has recently shaken its fetter at Germany from a safe distance, is a small country which has made deep dents in history and geography in its time. It is not as large as the state of New York and often during its variegated career has contained less than a million people. Yet it has sunk bases in the concert of nations at times and has recently renewed its youth by kicking out its king, establishing a republic and joining the big European rough-house.

Portugal is located on the west side of the Spanish peninsula and is a sunny, picturesque country with a population of 5,000,000 people with less than half of its area in chief products are wine, olive, fruit, onions and bull fights. Some of the implements used by the Portuguese farmers were invented by the Romans and if a self-binder were introduced in some provinces the inhabitants would climb trees for safety when they saw it coming. Only 20 per cent of the Portuguese can read or write; more than half of them can sail a boat. The Portuguese sailing fleet is composed of 20,000 vessels and the Portuguese have been first-class navigators for 500 years.

The Portuguese first discovered the way around the Cape of Good Hope at a time when the reptiles in the southern seas were supposed to be more deadly than submarines. Four hundred years ago the Portuguese empire extended around the globe and Portuguese sailors were traveling over oceans which were unexplored by other nations. However, the Portuguese navy is not going to make much trouble in the present war. It consists of one rickety battleship and a few runabouts and one German war cruiser would pl the whole thing before breakfast.

Portugal settled Brazil and owned it for almost three hundred years. At the end of this time Brazil was so much bigger than Portugal that a dispute arose as to which country owned the other and Portugal barely escaped with its independence. The Portuguese have always had a hard time with their kings and have started out with a republic knowing as little about self-government as a missionary does about aeroplanes. But they have gotten along four years with only a few minor revolutions and are very hopeful.

Portugal has one great city, Lisbon, celebrated for its earthquakes. It also has better roads than America, but this is almost an unnecessary statement.

SIR EDWARD GREY

British foreign minister, who was perhaps the most prominent figure in European politics outside of Germany just before the war began, now has time to rest. Ministers of war and the navy have taken up the work he tried to prevent. This photograph shows him at the country home of his cousin Earl Grey for a week-end rest.

ACID AND ALKALINE FOODS

When in the course of an operation on the kidney the surgeon takes the organ in his hand he finds that it beats or pulsates as does the heart. When he compares this with the beat of his heart he notes that the two beats occur at about the same moment and in character are much the same. The reason is plain. The beating of the kidney is merely the beating of the heart, transmitted to the kidney by reason of its rich supply of blood vessels.

Observing, it is noted that though the kidney has no special nerve, it has an artery which is extremely large for an organ the size of the kidney. These facts mean that the kidney has highly important work to do. That work is the removal of waste substances from the blood. These substances, when put in solution, form the urine. By the time the urine comes to the excretory, it may have been changed by the bladder or by what has happened to it outside the body, but, after allowing for these factors, we can, by examining the urine, find out some facts about the kidney and also some facts about the general condition of the body.

The kidney, we are to remember, separates out the ash. By examining the ash we can draw some conclusions as to the body fire. The body should be in proper balance as between acidity or alkalinity. When it gets out of balance the fact is shown by change in the reaction of the urine. The largest factor in determining the reaction of the blood and secondarily of the urine is the diet.

Sherman and Gettler furnish the following table of foods arranged according to whether they create acid or alkali. The organs show the degree of acidity or alkalinity.

NOTHING SERIOUS

L. M. writes: "When there are white particles in the urine, does it signify anything seriously wrong with kidneys or bladder?"

REPLY.

No. The particles are composed of mucus and pus. They come from the lower part of the tract and are the result of a "long ago" infection. The condition is not of great importance.

HOW PARIS STYLES MAKE MUCH HAIR FROM LITTLE

You have noticed the prevailing hair styles, which are Parisian, make it impossible to use false hair because of the simple lines which conform to the natural shape of the head. It therefore becomes necessary to make your own hair look as heavy as possible. This is not a difficult task if you are careful to keep it perfectly clean. In washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the heat that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of canthox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and use as shampoo. After its use the hair dries readily with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp growth the health which insures hair growth.

GETS LETTER 57 YEARS AFTER IT WAS MAILED

Prof. J. M. Kerr Receives Missive From Old Professor, Which Was Mailed March 20, 1887

Fifty-seven years, seven months, after it was posted, a letter reached James H. Kerr, of this city Saturday. The letter, written by Prof. E. F. M. Faehs at New London, Pa., was posted March 20, 1887, and where it has been in the meantime, Mr. Kerr doesn't know. He believes the writer has been dead for several years.

Professor Faehs was Mr. Kerr's instructor in civil engineering in an eastern college. The recipient of the letter believes it was sent to the college where it was misplaced and discovered only a short time ago. It was forwarded to him by his sister without a word of explanation.

Dependency Due to Indigestion. It is not at all surprising that persons who have indigestion become discouraged and dependent. Here are a few words of hope and cheer for them by Mrs. Blanche Bowers, Indiana, Pa. "For years by indigestion was so poor that I could only eat the lightest foods. I tried everything that I heard of to get relief, but not until about a year ago when I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and got a bottle of them, did I find the right treatment. I soon began to improve, and since taking a few bottles of them my digestion is fine." For sale by all dealers.

New Rural Delivery of Mail to Fountain Valley

A new rural delivery route will be instituted in the Fountain Valley district within the next few weeks, according to Postmaster O. W. Ward. The territory to be covered would extend about 10 miles into the country, commencing this side of the slaughter house. One hundred and eleven families have been counted in that district, who would benefit by the service. The Stratton home also will be included in the route.

"The Fountain Valley territory is pretty thickly settled with families and is best suited to a mail service," said Mr. Ward. "We have gone over the district and investigated thoroughly. The carrier will leave the postoffice about 8 or 9 o'clock in the morning, taking in about 10 miles of valley district and returning via the Stratton home. The service will be instituted about January 1."

REPLY.

1. The danger is not great.

2. Uncooked.

3. For the same reason a woman's preserves sometimes ferment. The cooking prior to canning sometimes fails to kill all the spores. It is the best known method of preserving, but it is not perfect.

4. No. The typhoid bacillus is never spread by canned goods. Food poisoning of which one variety is ptomaine poisoning is due to bacterial action (in nearly every case). Typhoid fever is due to the typhoid bacillus acting on the man directly and not through any action on his food.

CHILDREN BRINGING GIFTS FOR THANKSGIVING POOR

Will Collect All Cans To Give to Help Associated Charities Fill Many Baskets

Hundreds of children in Colorado Springs daily are bringing contributions of fruit, vegetables and money to their schools to help provide Thanksgiving dinners for the worthy sick and poor of the city. In accordance with the annual custom instituted by the board of education, the gifts are left at the schools to accumulate until Wednesday morning when they are delivered at the Associated Charities and distributed to needy families. Preparations for Thanksgiving are going ahead rapidly and many lists are being made out by the different charitable organizations. More than 30 families already have applied at the Associated Charities for baskets.

Yesterday 15 turkeys were received from Anthony, Kan., and distributed to the employees of the Wells Fargo Express company here and in Grumpy Creek, by Agent W. H. Cowan. This is a yearly custom of the company. Arrangements and details for the Thanksgiving services in the rural districts of El Paso county are being made by County Agriculturist W. H. Lanck, and all those having automobiles to lend on that day are asked to notify him at once.

The druggists will be warned that a violation will mean the confiscation of their stocks.

The management assures everybody of an exceptionally fine program this week. Griffith and the leading characters are presented by such sterling film artists as Irene Hunt, the woman who dares. Ralph Lewis, Spotswode Atkin and many other stars of filmdom. "Nipped" a two-reel Domino feature, is a strong play of Mexican-Japanese intrigue. It is of local interest on account of Aoki, the little Japanese girl who spent quite a few summers in Colorado Springs, taking a prominent part in the production. Her many friends will be glad to see her in the portrayal of San Toy in this feature. "Fanny's Wine Party" is a Keystone comedy with the inimitable Roscoe Arbuckle as the principal fun-

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not sleep, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live."

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong."

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."

Mrs. MARTHA SFAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

JUSTICE LAMAR REFUSES TO ACCEPT FRANK'S PLEA FOR REHEARING OF CASE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23—Attorneys for Louis M. Frank, under sentence of death for the murder of Mary Phagan, a factory girl in Atlanta, Ga., in 1912, will carry to other members of the United States supreme court the application for a writ of error in Frank's behalf which was refused today by Justice Lamar.

This announcement was made tonight by Mr. Alexander of Frank's counsel, who will remain in Washington to continue the attempt to get intervention by the supreme court on the ground that Frank's constitutional rights were violated by the rendering of a verdict during his absence from the court room.

Mr. Alexander did not say to which member of the court he would next apply.

FEEL FREE TO PARTICIPATE IN EXPOSITION TO SHOW GRATITUDE FOR U.S. AID

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23—The decision of the French government to adhere to its original intention of participating in the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco was an act of gratitude for American aid to the wounded and suffering of the present war, according to advice received by the state department today from Ambassador Herriot.

France also was desirous of showing, Mr. Herriot said, that notwithstanding the invasion of her territory and the stress of war, she could join the nations of the earth in celebrating the opening of the Panama canal. The French exhibit will include a reproduction of the plan of the Legion of Honor in which will be installed historic French art, tapestries, furniture and ceramics. A complete showing also will be made of contemporary French art in the palace of fine arts. Modern artistic manufactures will be included in the section of the French pavilion.

ARMY-NAVY AND PENN-CORNELL GAMES WILL CLOSE EASTERN PLAY THIS WEEK

Battle Between Uncle Sam's Prep Schools
Society Attraction of the Year: Crowd
Will Be Small Owing to Limitations of Franklin Field in Philadelphia

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The most sensational football season in recent years will close this week with the playing of the Pennsylvania-Cornell game at Philadelphia on Thanksgiving day and the Army-Navy game on the same field two days later. Compared with the Yale-Princeton, Princeton-Harvard and Yale-Harvard series these annual games are of comparatively modern origin. The interest, however, is keen and such as to draw the largest play before crowds that tax the capacity of the stands.

The Cornell-Pennsylvania series began in the autumn of 1885 and has continued without interruption for 31 years. During this period Pennsylvania has won 13 games, Cornell two and one resulted in no-score tie. In total points Pennsylvania leads with 392 to Cornell's 118 and the victories have been accumulated in springs. From 1888 to 1900 Pennsylvania won continuously. After being defeated in 1901 the Quakers were triumphant until 1906 when the no-score tie occurred. From 1907 to 1913 Pennsylvania won regularly. Cornell's second victory coming last season when the Ithaca team won 31 to 0.

The Army-Navy games began three years earlier than the Cornell-Pennsylvania series but owing to breaks in the service matches but eighteen contests have been held. Of these contests the Navy has won nine, the Army eight and one resulted in a tie. Although the Navy has a one game lead, the Cadets have scored the greater number of points. Their eight victories totalling 182 points to the Midshipmen's 158. It is a peculiar feature of the series that in a large majority of the contests both eleven have scored. The Army has succeeded but once in shutting out the Navy while Annapolis teams have six times defeated their West Point opponents without being scored upon.

Small Attendance.
Owing to the smaller seating capacity of Franklin Field there will not be the enormous attendance that marked the Army-Navy game played in New York last November. In round figures probably 10,000 less spectators will be present than was the case in 1913, but this does not indicate any loss of interest in general. In fact college football continues to grow in popularity each season. The present autumn has witnessed greater gatherings at the big games than ever before, notwithstanding the constantly increasing number of these festive contests.

While accurate figures are not available for the attendance of all games throughout the country on any given day, it has been estimated that the aggregate Saturday attendance at football games during late October and November has been well in excess of one-half a million. That this estimate is not exaggerated is shown by the fact that of the 146 games scheduled for Saturday, November 7, five drew over 100,000 spectators. The Harvard-Princeton contest was witnessed by 30,000 persons, Yale and Brown drew 20,000, Michigan and Pennsylvania 25,000, Pennsylvania State-Lehigh drew 3,000, Pittsburgh-Washington and Jefferson 12,000, Syracuse-Rutgers 8,000 and scores of other games attracted from 4,000 to 7,000 attendance.

Record at Yale Bowl.
The Harvard-Yale game played in the new Yale "bowl" at New Haven last Saturday was a new record for football attendance when close to 70,000 persons watched the annual gridiron struggle between the teams of the two New England universities. This gathering is the largest that ever paid admission to a sporting event in the United States with the exception of the annual international automobile race held at the motorrome in Indianapolis, Ind. Attendance at these Memorial day 500-mile races approaches close to 100,000 which still falls below the record figures at big football games in England. There is, however, no comparison between the gate receipts since the lowest admission charge in these American events is double and triple the price abroad.

Repeat Intercollegiate Games.
Although the four intercollegiate football games played in the east this year have resulted in victories for the home teams it appears almost certain that these contests will be repeated or even added to in 1915. Michigan at Harvard and Notre Dame at Yale both made splendid impressions and sentiment in both sections is apparently strongly in favor of a continuance of these meetings. Coach Rockne of the Notre Dame team in discussing these east vs. west games said recently: "I am strongly in favor of intercollegiate football, and hope to see Notre Dame on Yale's schedule next year again. I think that it will bring about a better understanding between the east and west besides of making the task of judging individual players easier. I think that within a year or two there will be many eastern teams coming west for games. It will also give variety to the game, as teams will have to prepare to meet every kind of offense in these games. So I am one who wants to see intercollegiate games increase, even if the eastern teams do defeat the western teams this season. It will be good for the game and good for the country."

The sentiment appears to be spreading throughout the college athletic world and it appears certain that next autumn will see more intercollegiate games than ever before. Not only are the eastern and middle western institutions moving in this direction but the south as well. Several of the large universities south of Washington are already planning 1915 schedules which will include contests with the leading eleven of the east. Yale met Virginia on the gridiron early this season and it is understood that Princeton, Harvard and Pennsylvania have all been sounded by managers of southern teams regarding the possibility of securing a place upon their schedule for next year.

War to Hurt 1915 Sports.
While the outlook for intercollegiate contests during 1915 is exceedingly promising the prospects for international events, such as featured the year drawing to a close, are not over bright. Amateur and professional sports abroad have received a heavy setback as a result of the European war and it is extremely doubtful if any organized attempt will be made to resume them next summer even though the war ends before that period. It is known that no American sports body such as the Polo or Tennis associations would think of issuing a challenge for trophies lost during the past summer so long as hostilities continue or the aftermath of the war handicaps the cup holding organizations.

When such English classics as Wimbledon tennis title tournament, the Oxford-Cambridge crew races and the famous turf fixtures are reported as likely to be cancelled, it can be seen that international competitions are out of the question. It may be, however, that private excursions such as the proposed visit of golfers, Vardon and Reid, to the United States next season may eventuate. Those countries not involved in the war may also send small teams to the Panama-Pacific exposition games but the general outlook appears to favor a number of new intercollegiate contests in various lines of sport as the real feature of the 1915 season.

HIGH SCHOOL QUARTERBACK DIES FROM LOCKJAW

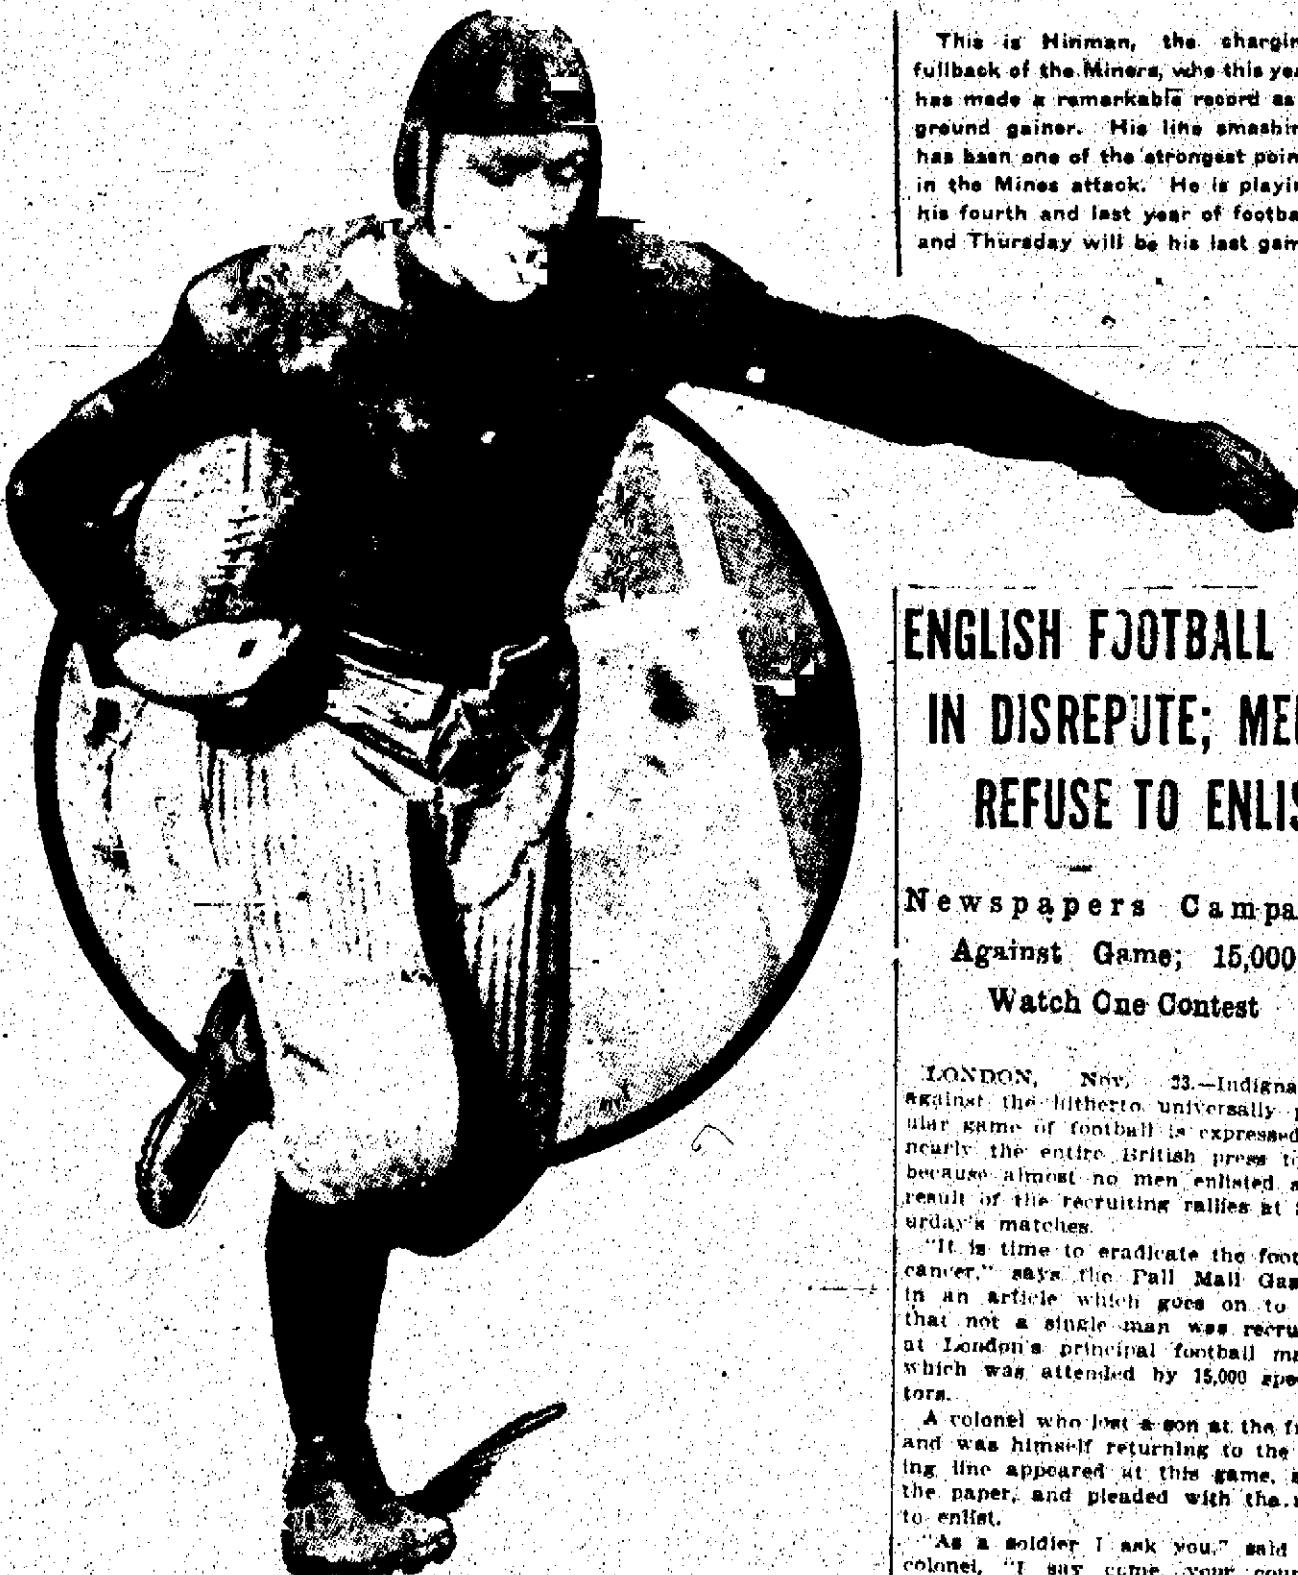

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark., Nov. 23.—Thomas McClure, aged 15, quarterback on the Russellville high school football team, died today from an injury received in a game a week ago. The boy's nose was broken and lockjaw developed.

Columbia Player Could Not Make Weight and Game Is Called Off

Five pounds of boy caused a scrap yesterday and resulted in the calling off of a football game between the Cheyenne and Columbia school eleven. The game was played on the institute grounds, and at the end of the first half the score was 6 to 6. The teams had agreed to play with no member weighing over 115 pounds. On investigating a rather chubby lad from Columbia, the Cheyenne players found that he weighed 120 pounds and refused to go on with the game.

Last night Cheyenne challenged Columbia to play again at even weights.

CAN C. C. STOP THE HUMAN EATING RAM?

This is Hinman, the charging fullback of the Miners, who this year has made a remarkable record as a ground gainer. His line smashing has been one of the strongest points in the Mines attack. He is playing his fourth and last year of football, and Thursday will be his last game.

ENGLISH FOOTBALL IN DISREPUTE; MEN REFUSE TO ENLIST

Newspapers Campaign Against Game; 15,000 Watch One Contest

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Indignation against the hitherto universally popular game of football is expressed by nearly the entire British press today because almost no men enlisted as a result of the recruiting rallies at Saturday's matches.

"It is time to eradicate the football cancer," says the Pall Mall Gazette in an article which goes on to say that not a single man was recruited at London's principal football match which was attended by 15,000 spectators.

A colonel who lost a son at the front and was himself returning to the firing line appeared at this game, says the paper, and pleaded with the men to enlist.

"As a soldier I ask you," said the colonel, "to say come, your country needs you."

His words were drowned by shouts as the teams came on the field, continues the paper, which adds that other parts of the country the same stolid refusal greeted the bands of stewards and recruiting officers. No recruits were obtained at Nottingham, where 7,500 spectators attended a match and no one was recruited at Brighton.

The Evening Standard says that the total result of the countryside movement was one recruit.

"Is football such a passion that nothing on earth can stop it?" says the Standard. "Vigorous youth should be powerfully persuaded that this is not the time for the development of any passion save love of country."

The Westminster Gazette says there is only one way in which the football association can put itself right in the eyes of the public and that is by discontinuing its program.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Four players from the University of Illinois football eleven, 1914, champions of the western intercollegiate conference, were named today as members of the all-conference eleven by Walter H. HAW! HAW! CROWLEY SAYS D. U. HAS CHANCE AGAINST BOULDER; FIGHT ON OFFICIALS

Eckersall May Be Selected as Referee. While Quigley Is Suggested for Tiger-Mines Game

(BY CLEM CROWLEY.)
DENVER, Nov. 23.—Colorado vs. Denver university game is up in the air. At the last moment, a fight is on over officials. The University of Denver authorities want an "outside" man to referee the game, but Colorado does not want to go beyond the borders of the state for the official, so everything is at a deadlock. Walter Eckersall, the famous University of Chicago quarterback, who is one of the best officials in the middle west, having worked the Michigan-Pennsylvania, Iowa-Nebraska and many other games this year, has been suggested as last quarter of St. Mary's. It is probable that Quigley will work the Tiger-Mines game at Colorado Springs.

There are numerous reasons for and against having an outside man to referee the contest. There is a little more expense, but Eckersall is a charming card in himself, and he will take in enough money in the gate to pay his expenses. There are a number of people that would not ordinarily go to a football game, but will be on hand to see the famous "Eckle" perform.

Dave Main and Louis Bausch have been agreed upon for umpire and head linesman respectively, and only the referee remains to be chosen. The game takes place on Thursday, so the Colorado and Denver authorities will have to get busy soon or there will be no game, and then another fight for six years will be on.

D. U. Has Great Chance.
In 1908, six years ago, the University of Colorado called off athletic relations with the University of Denver. The reason given was professionalism on the Denver team. The day after Colorado issued their famous statement to the papers the Denver team went to Boulder and defeated Coach Folsom's team, 14 to 10.

For six years Colorado has wanted to avenge this defeat and for six years Denver has been ready to take another chance on repeating their victory. On Thursday afternoon these two teams meet, and it is going to be "some game."

No matter who was right on the professionalism charges, suffice it to say that there are few football players that are not technically professionals, and in 1908 Colorado was in no position to throw stones. The real issue on Colorado's part is, "Beat Denver."

A few weeks ago this was considered easy. Colorado was going good, while the Miners could not get started. Now, however, the conditions have changed. Denver is going good, while Colorado is far from going at her best. The defeat by the Miners, coupled with the injury to Sells, has taken a great deal of heart out of the Colorado team, and Denver has more than a chance.

Miners Come Strong.
Wyoming presented a much better team against Denver than any other team this season. The eleven had

"TIGERS IN BEST SHAPE THEY HAVE BEEN ALL SEASON"—COACH ROTHGEB; SEASON'S HARD WORK ENDS TONIGHT

Dope Yarns About Mines Strategy in Winning by One Point All Bunk; Plenty of Digger Money Being Covered Here; Boulder to Try to Increase Tigers' D. U. Score

The Tigers are in the best condition they have been all season, and unless something happens in the last scrimmage tonight, they will enter the game with the Miners Thursday in better shape than they have been for any game this season. This is the opinion of Claude J. Rothgeb, coach. He ought to know. Rothgeb, dislikes the "bear" story, as it is known in athletic circles, and contrary to many coaches, he is willing to tell the exact condition of his eleven.

The Tigers have one more night of hard work. Tomorrow night there will be a short signal practice and probably a short drill in the gymnasium tomorrow afternoon. That will wind up the season's practice. Yesterday afternoon the regular routine was on the boards. The coach sent his team up and down the field several times in signal work and then scrimmaged them against the freshmen. The scrimmage was fast and all the known plays of the Miners were shot against the Tiger line with but little effect. But the practice was light.

Offense Reaches Maximum.
On the offensive the Tiger backfield seems to have reached its maximum form. The backfield is a happy combination of speed and smashing power. Jack Taylor, the Human Bullet, is considered to be the best back in the conference. Taylor is dangerous anywhere he goes. He shakes off tacklers and even carries them with him. His straight-arm has broken many a tackle. He is the Tigers' best bet on attack.

It is practically certain that there will be no changes in the Tiger team for the Mines game. "Stub" Davis will be at the helm of the machine and Ogden Verner will be at right half. These two men, unknown at the start of the season, came to the front rapidly and now are numbered among the most dependable ground gainers in the conference. Both are exceptionally fast—faster than any pair of Mines backs, although both are playing their first year of college football. Schweitzer, the fullback, who never played football before this year, is rapidly developing into a hard-hitting player and a danger on the defense.

The Tiger line which this season has outplayed and outchoked every other line in the conference is probably the best all-around collection in the conference. The men work together. There is plenty of teamwork. To the spectators the playing of line men is lost in watching the man with the ball. Therefore the line men must take the brunt of the work and get the small amount of credit for their labors. But the Tiger line has stood the test against the charging of all the conference teams except the Mines, and there is no need for worry in the game Thursday.

Speaking of Bunk.
The Mines team is reputed to be playing exceptionally speedy football and using generalship to offset its lack of weight. But the yarns that have spread into the public press about the Mines just scoring enough points to win and saving their energies for later contests are pure bunk. In this day and age they don't play football that way. To think that a team would run up a few points and then put themselves on the defensive is pure nonsense. The Mines haven't scored any more than they have because their offense has not been capable of scoring. On the other hand, the defense has played true to form. The Mines have had only eight points added up against them, and they have rolled up only 56 in their conference games. Opposed to this are the Tigers' 128 points with 27 against them.

Mines' victory over the Aggies Saturday is discounted to some extent by the way the Farmers played with six regulars off the team. The Mines were presented with one touchdown because of erratic punting by the Aggie kicker, who booted the ball straight up. Those who witnessed the game said:

Chinaman Makes Letters on Chicago U. Fresh Team

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—W. R. Chang, freshman of the University of Chicago, today received the first football honors ever awarded a Chinese in this city. Chang played with the freshmen team during the past season and with 19 others today received the 1914 number 31.

Miss Stoddard and Gottlieb were married in Colorado Springs a year ago, following an elopement. The girl's parents came here and persuaded the couple to return to Pueblo where they took the girl to her home. Miss Stoddard attended Colorado college two years ago.

In her complaint for divorce she said that her happiness lasted but two weeks that following her escape and elopement from the Congress hotel in Pueblo her husband took her to New York city where he played in an orchestra at a salary of $60 a month. She said that he had opportunities to teach but refused to do so and instead an engagement in a theatre orchestra at $25 a week. She said the work was too arduous. She said he finally pawned his fiddle to pay the room rent and insisted upon residing

Quick, Painless Way To Remove Hairy Growth

(Helps to Beauty)

Here is a simple, unfeeling way to rid the skin of objectionable hairs. With some powdered pumice and water make enough paste to cover the hairy surface, apply, and in about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin, and every trace of hair has vanished. This is quite harmless, but to avoid disappointment, be sure to get the delatant in an original package.

Thanksgiving service will be held Thursday night at the First Methodist church. The service will be given by the pastor of the church of the brethren.
